

Turnaround Specialist

Debbie Duty Deery is a graduate of the School of Education at Montana State University. After serving on the Governor's Task Force on Education, she became a principal in 1991, when she was responsible for Title IX and Multi-age Programs for the Havre School District. Following that post Debbie became a principal in Billings, Montana Public Schools and in 2000 relocated to Reno, NV to become a principal in Washoe County Public Schools. Debbie's leadership led the school from a Title school in need of improvement to a Nationally Distinguished Title School. Debbie was the recipient of the Nevada Commissioner on Governor's Committee on Educational Excellence award in 2007. Debbie serves on the Nevada State Department of Education Commission on Educational Excellence. Debbie has been working as a Specialist for School Turnaround since 2009. Her work is currently based out of St. Louis, MO.