

Program Manager

Billie-Jo Slingerland joined the School Turnaround team in 2006. Prior to joining School Turnaround, she was a Senior Administrative Assistant for Cornell Cooperative Extension of Albany County, Agriculture Department for seven years. Some of her responsibilities included planning and organizing educational trainings, maintaining databases, sending correspondence, and the design and layout of three publications.

Billie-Jo is the lead for all web-based support in the form of virtual conferences, website services, and communications. In addition, she provides internal administrative support, oversees benchmark testing data, coordinates all employee travel, and manages School Turnaround's daily operations. Her ability to do web research, format business documents and troubleshoot software programs are just a few of the many skills she brings to her work.

She graduated from Schenectady County Community College with two Associates Degrees in Paralegal Studies and Criminal Justice.
